THE UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI MISSION STATEMENT

The University of Miami's mission is to educate and nurture students, to create knowledge, and to provide service to our community and beyond. Committed to excellence and proud of the diversity of our University family, we strive to develop future leaders of our nation and the world.

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

History:

Although many people over a period of years played a role in the establishment of the University of Miami, it was William Jennings Bryan who first promoted the need and stimulated a community planning effort for a university to serve the growing Miami area. In 1925 the University received its charter and in the following year enrolled its first students. On March 18, 1926, Bowman Foster Ashe was named executive secretary and subsequently president of the University by the Board of Regents.

The cornerstone of the Merrick Building, which was to house classrooms and administrative offices, was laid on February 4, 1926, on land donated by George E. Merrick, founder of Coral Gables. Merrick also donated $5 million to be matched by other sources. When Merrick's donation could not be matched, the work that had begun on the Merrick Building ceased and a decision was made to convert the partially constructed Anastasia Hotel into temporary quarters for the University. In the rush to finish the Anastasia Building before the announced opening of the University in October, cardboard-covered partitions were used to separate rooms, leading to the name "Cardboard College." Construction of the Merrick Building would not resume until 1949, 23 years after it started.

In September, just before the first classes were to begin, the monster hurricane of 1926 swept through South Florida, causing destruction that left the University further in debt. In spite of tremendous adversity, the University managed to open its doors on October 15, 1926, offering programs in the liberal arts and music to 560 students. The School of Law was added in 1928 and the Schools of Business and Education were created in 1929.

The Florida depression that followed the collapse of the real estate market and the national depression that started in 1929 added further financial burdens that brought the survival of the University into question. President Ashe had to resort to borrowing on his personal insurance policy to pay faculty salaries. Still in debt, the University filed a petition for bankruptcy in 1932. Determined to keep the University going, President Ashe and others formed a new corporation, The University of Miami, Inc., and in 1934, at an auction, bought back the University's property for $15,758.84.

The 1940s were a time of great change at the University. During World War II, President Ashe arranged to have university facilities available for training U.S. Army and British Royal Air Force personnel. In addition, the war gave the University reason to expand its facilities. The Graduate School was created in 1941 and the Marine Laboratory was formally established in 1943. In 1947, shortly after the war ended, the School of Engineering was founded, and the University began the excavation of Lake Osceola.

Growth continued at the University in the 1950s. The School of Medicine, the first to be accredited in the state of Florida, was founded in March of 1952. After President Ashe fell ill and subsequently died in December of 1952, Jay F. W. Pearson was named the second president of UM in January of 1953. President Pearson served in that capacity until 1962. During his tenure, the first computer on the UM campus was installed in the Engineering Building and the Board of Trustees removed all racial barriers from admission policies.

Henry King Stanford became the University's third president on April 18, 1962. The Department of Nursing, which originated as a department in the College of Arts and Sciences, became the School of Nursing in 1968. Also in 1968, with a gift from The Rosenstiel Foundation, the University obtained a deed for 9.7 acres of land on Virginia Key. Shortly after these events, in 1969 the Institute of Marine Science (formerly the Marine Laboratory) became a school and several months later was renamed the Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science. Although continuing education classes had been offered since 1926, the University formally founded the School of Continuing Studies in 1974.

Edward T. Foote II was inaugurated as the University's fourth president in 1981. Under his leadership, the University was selected to shelter a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest and most prestigious honor society. Three additional schools were also founded in the eighties: Architecture (1983), the Graduate School of International Studies (1983), and the School of Communication (1985). In 1997, the Graduate School of International Studies was reorganized to offer undergraduate degree programs and was renamed the School of International Studies. President Foote also led a capital campaign that raised over $500 million, at the time the third largest campaign in American higher education.

Donna E. Shalala became the University's fifth president in 2001. At the time of her inauguration, the University celebrated its 75th anniversary. In 2002, the School of International Studies was disestablished and combined with the College of Arts and Sciences. The following year, the School of Continuing Studies was disestablished and its responsibilities were moved into the Division of Enrollments and Continuing Studies. In October 2003, the University announced Momentum, The Campaign for the University of Miami, a billion-dollar effort to accelerate progress, empower learning and discovery, and intensify our impact on people in our city, across the country, and around the world. In January 2006 the goal was increased to $1.25 billion, and by the close of the campaign raised $1.4 billion. In 2007, the University purchased Cedars Medical Center, a 560-bed facility located in the Miami Health District just across from the Miller School of Medicine. The facility is now known as the University of Miami Hospital. In 2012, the University announced the launch of Momentum2: The Breakthrough Campaign for the University of Miami, which will raise a towering $1.6 billion by the year 2016, transforming the face of a the University yet again with new buildings and labs, scholarships for students who might not otherwise be able to attend college, and a brand-new group of talented and ambitious researchers and scholars with the knowledge to not only study global problems, but also solve them.

Overview:

The University is a private not-for-profit institution and has been classified by the Carnegie Commission as a Very High Research University. The University's 11 colleges and schools offer the following areas of study: 112 undergraduate, 97 master's, and 59 doctoral (55 research/scholarship and 4 professional practice).

Campuses:

Five UM campuses incorporate 196 University-owned buildings totaling 11.0 million gross square feet on over 500 acres of land.

Coral Gables: The Main campus, located on 239-acres in suburban Coral Gables, houses two colleges and seven schools with 128 buildings totaling 5.8 million gross square feet. Several new facilities have opened on the Coral Gables campus – most recently the Robert and Judi Prokop Newman Alumni Center and an addition to the Patti and Alan Herbert Wellness Center. Future projects include a new addition to the Cox Science building to house the Interdisciplinary Neuroscience and Health, the Schwartz Center for Athletic Excellence, and the new Student Activities Center. Several other new facilities are in the early planning stages for other colleges and schools.

Medical Campus: The Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine campus consists of approximately 68-acres of owned and leased land within the 153-acre University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Medical Center complex. The medical center includes three University-owned hospitals that make up UHealth - University of Miami Health System: University of Miami Hospital, Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center/UMHC (University of Miami Hospital & Clinics), and Bascom Palmer Eye Institute. Bascom Palmer was ranked the number one eye hospital in the country for the ninth year in a row in the 22nd annual survey of “America’s Best Hospitals” published in U.S. News & World Report in July 2012. Eight additional specialties were rated high-performing. Eight pediatric specialties made the list of “America’s Best Children’s Hospitals.” Our primary affiliated hospitals on the medical campus include Jackson Memorial Hospital, Holtz Children’s Hospital and the Miami VA Healthcare System. Miller School of Medicine faculty conduct more than 2,000 research projects in basic science and clinical care in 1.7 million square feet of research facilities. The UM Life Science & Technology Park opened R+D Building One, a 252,000 square foot facility that is bringing together academia and industry for collaboration in bioscience research and innovation.

Rosenstiel School Campus: The Rosenstiel School of Marine & Atmospheric Science is one of the leading oceanographic research and education institutions in the nation. Located on an 18-acre waterfront campus on Virginia Key, Florida, in Biscayne Bay, the School’s main campus is part of a 65-acre marine research and education park that includes two U.S. Department of Commerce National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) research laboratories and the MAST Academy, the Miami-Dade County magnet high school for marine science and technology. The Rosenstiel School operates CSTARS (Center for Southeastern Tropical Advanced Remote Sensing) located on Richmond Campus in south Miami-Dade County, which conducts research with remotely sensed data received from earth-orbiting satellite systems. The School also oversees a subtropical island field station on a private 63-acre plot in Broad Key, Florida, and the operation of an archeological field research and education facility on 112 acres at Little Salt Springs, located in North Port, Florida. A new 86,000 SF Marine Technology and Life Sciences Seawater Building is under construction at the campus. This facility includes a 78,000 SF Marine Life Science Center and an 8,000 SF wind-wave storm surge facility (SUSTAIN). It will house office and laboratory spaces.

South Campus: The south campus, located ten miles southwest of Coral Gables, opened in 1986 on a 106-acre site. Its five buildings provide 60,831 gross square feet for the purpose of conducting research and development projects. In 1997 an additional 30 acres were acquired bringing the total area of the south campus to 136 acres.

Richmond Campus: The Richmond campus, established in 2001, is a 76-acre site near south campus. Research facilities for the Rosenstiel School's Center for Southeastern Tropical Advanced Remote Sensing (CSTARS) and Richmond Satellite Operations Center (RSOC) are located on a portion of the new campus.

There are over 60 computer labs located in the residential colleges, libraries, schools, and colleges. The University's network provides connections in each dorm room with Internet and Internet2 access. UM's interactive online information source for personalized University-related information, called myUM, includes course registration, grades, financial aid and billing, parking, dining, and more.

UM's network infrastructure supports over 45,000 devices connected to the wired network, and over 15,000 wireless devices (including guests) on a daily basis. Daily network traffic flowing in and out of the University is as follows: Internet – 3 Gbps (commercial Internet), and Research Networks – 1.50 Gbps. UM is also an equity member of the Florida LambdaRail (FLR) providing 10 Gbps connectivity throughout the state, and to the National LambdaRail (NLR).

The Center for Computational Science has a High Performance Computing (HPC) core. The HPC core is a university wide resource with a mission to provide the University of Miami academic community with comprehensive HPC resources ranging from hardware infrastructure to expertise in designing and implementing HPC solutions. Currently, HPC features over 7,000 cores with over 12 terabytes of memory. Over 75 teraflops of computational power split between two distinct architectural paradigms: symmetric multi-processing (SMP) supercomputers and massively/embarrassingly parallel processing (M/EPP) clusters. In summary, the two SMP supercomputers include: 576 CPU IBM Power5+ SMP cluster, with high-speed interconnect; 800 CPU IBM Power5+ SMP cluster, with next-generation high-speed interconnect. The M/EPP clusters are Intel x86 based linux clusters, one with 5,700 cores for large scale production runs, and one with 256 cores for smaller scale work.

Development:

In FY 12, contributions reached $164.5 million in total private cash, gifts, and grants; and in FY 11, UM ranked 34th among the research, doctoral, masters, liberal arts, and specialized private and public universities reporting to the Council for Aid to Education.

Miller School of Medicine, has grown rapidly in both size and reputation, earning international acclaim for research, clinical care, and biomedical innovations. The school has more than 1,400 full-time clinical and basic science faculty members and an additional 1,415 professionals from the community serving as voluntary faculty in various departments.

Along with the M.D. degree, the school offers two specialized B.S./M.D. programs, a combined M.D./Ph.D. program, an M.D./M.B.A. program, a 4-year M.D./M.P.H. program and 4-year M.D./M.S. in Genomic Medicine, a newly created M.D./J.D. program, graduate degrees in ten areas, postdoctoral programs, and continuing medical education courses.

Located north of downtown Miami near the Civic Center in the Miami Health District, the school's campus consists of approximately 68-acres of owned and leased land within the 153-acre University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Medical Center complex. Each year the University of Miami Health System's more than 900 faculty physicians have more than one million scheduled patient encounters in primary care and 100 medical specialties and sub-specialties.

University of Miami Hospital is the flagship hospital of UHealth - University of Miami Health System. The University also owns two other hospitals: Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center/UMHC (University of Miami Hospital & Clinics) and Bascom Palmer Eye Institute. For the ninth year in a row, Bascom Palmer was named the number one eye hospital in the country by U.S. News & World Report in its annual "America's Best Hospitals" issue. Eight additional specialties were rated high-performing. Eight pediatric specialties made the list of "America's Best Children's Hospitals."

In addition to the three University-owned hospitals, there are also three primary hospitals affiliated with UHealth: Jackson Memorial Hospital, the primary teaching hospital for the medical school; Holtz Children's Hospital; and the Miami VA Healthcare System. There are also more than 30 outpatient clinics across Miami-Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, Monroe, and Collier counties, including multi-disciplinary clinics at UHealth at Kendall and UHealth at Plantation.

The Miller School has been designated a Center for AIDS Research (CFAR), the only such center in Florida, and is leading the University's prestigious Clinical and Translational Science Institute (CTSI), awarded by the NIH. Other clinical and research programs include the John P. Hussman Institute for Human Genomics, the Interdisciplinary Stem Cell Institute, the Dr. John T. Macdonald Foundation Biomedical Nanotechnology Institute, the Miami Transplant Institute, The Miami Project to Cure Paralysis, the Diabetes Research Institute, the Mailman Center for Child Development, and many more. Also located in the medical complex is the Louis Calder Memorial Library, the largest medical resource library in South Florida.

Fully accredited by the Liaison Committee on Medical Education of the Association of American Medical Colleges, the Miller School of Medicine is committed to graduating first-rate physicians and leads the nation in establishing innovative curriculum and admissions policies. Among the many student activities that reflect the commitment to community service are the various health fairs put on by the Mitchell Wolfson, Sr., Department of Community Service (DOCS) Program. The students and volunteer physicians coordinate events in numerous medically underserved communities each year, in addition to coordinating two weekly volunteer clinics in Miami.

School of Nursing and Health Studies: The University of Miami School of Nursing and Health Studies continues to raise the bar in global healthcare education. For over 65 years, the School has continually proven itself to be an innovator and this year is no exception. This Fall (2012), the School further expanded its reach to the local and global communities by launching the first Bachelor of Science in Public Health (BSPH) in southeast Florida. This program joins the ranks of the Bachelor of Science in Health Science (BSHS) as well as the Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) programs in providing future healthcare professionals with more diversified undergraduate study options. In addition to the traditional BSN, we offer an Accelerated BSN program for individuals who hold undergraduate degrees in fields other than nursing and an online RN-to-BSN program for Registered Nurses (RN). The School's curriculum also includes graduate programs: the Master of Science in Nursing (MSN), Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP), and Doctor of Philosophy (PhD).

The School was recently re-designated a Pan American Health Organization /World Health Organization Nursing Collaborating Centre, one of just 11 in the United States. As such it has a specific focus on pioneering improvements in patient safety, nursing workforce developments, as well as the development of postgraduate nursing programs in Latin America and the Caribbean. We also house the University of Miami Center of Excellence for Hispanic Health Disparities Research (El Centro), which advances the research and development of culturally tailored interventions for health conditions that disproportionately affect the minority population in South Florida.

The mission of the School of Nursing and Health Studies is to educate students and support faculty committed to excellence in nursing and health science. With some of the highest state board passing and certification rates in the nation, our School clearly demonstrates its students' unsurpassed level of academic and clinical preparation. In 2011, the School of Nursing and Health Studies had a 100% certification rate for our Master's Program, including Nurse Anesthesia, Acute Care/Adult Nurse Practitioner, Nurse Midwifery and Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP) programs. In addition, over 95% of our Bachelor of Science in Nursing (B.S.N.) students passed the NCLEX at the first examination.

The School is home to the International Academy for Clinical Simulation and Research, one of the nation's first simulation centers designed exclusively for nursing and health science education, featuring state-of-the-art classrooms and research facilities. With a seven bed adult laboratory, a seven bed pediatric laboratory, a micro-simulation computer laboratory, an operating room, and an intensive care unit, the center serves to strengthen students' clinical and critical thinking skills before they interact with real patients. Simulation is fully integrated into the School's curriculum, enabling our students to work on the most lifelike human simulators available before they ever touch a real patient. Our "patients" act just like the real ones – they can talk or make noises, have babies or have heart attacks exhibit vital signs, and perform most human bodily functions. Our students give rave reviews to their simulation training as a teaching mechanism that allows them to learn and build confidence without putting patients at risk, to connect didactic learning to real-life situations, and to practice their professional communication skills with each other.

Due to the increasing number of students enrolled at our School, we have begun to outgrow this facility and plans are currently underway to build a first-of-its-kind full-scale Simulation Hospital to meet our growing needs. This will be a 5-story, 39,000 square foot facility that will take a "patient" (i.e., "simulator") through all the facets of a real hospital -- from the Emergency Department to the operating room to patient rooms, to discharge. Our hospital will cover the life span of the patient (from newborn to geriatric stage), and will have human actors playing the friends and family of the "patients." It will also include a palliative care unit and an apartment setting, allowing for hospice and home health scenarios, as well as incorporate a variety of interdisciplinary healthcare personnel. When our graduates enter the real world of nursing care, the environment will seem very familiar. A design and architectural firm has been identified, preliminary design plans have been drawn up and our Simulation Hospital is progressing from a dream to a reality. The School invites all who believe in the transformative power of quality healthcare to partner with us to build our shared future.

With an extensive network of over 140 clinical partners, our students also gain hands-on experience at local hospitals, primary healthcare centers, community based organizations, health departments, and a range of social service agencies. The richness and diversity of the school's practice settings contribute to unique learning experiences for our students.

On the global front, our School has expanded its commitment toward international collaboration, offering its students 2-3 weeks mini-mesters in partnership with hospitals and universities in Taiwan, Spain, Chile, Mexico, Haiti and Australia (new exchange programs being developed in Brazil and the Dominican Republic). These initiatives allow students to earn credit and gain global perspectives on healthcare. There is much to be learned via international collaborations and sharing of clinical research and technology to improve patient healthcare throughout the globe.

Rosenstiel School of Marine & Atmospheric Science: The Rosenstiel School of Marine & Atmospheric Science is one of the leading oceanographic research and education institutions in the nation. Known originally as the University's marine laboratory, it was founded in 1943. It evolved into the Institute for Marine Science in 1961, and eight years later became the Rosenstiel School of Marine & Atmospheric Science (RSMAS) within the University of Miami.

The Virginia Key campus has grown to include modern research and teaching facilities, a dedicated academic library, and an internationally recognized Marine Invertebrate Museum. RSMAS also operates a state-of-the-art 96-foot catamaran research vessel, the F.G. Walton Smith, and pioneered the first-ever marine and atmospheric laboratory aboard a cruise ship, Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines' Explorer of the Seas.

CSTARS (Center for Southeastern Tropical Advanced Remote Sensing), located on the Richmond campus in south Miami-Dade county was launched in 2003, and conducts research with remotely sensed data received from earth-orbiting satellite systems. This state-of-the-art real-time reception and analysis facility provides data for environmental monitoring from 16 commercial satellites, available 24/7. The predictive power concentrated on this 78-acre campus is helping to provide vital, life-saving information regarding earthquakes, hurricanes, typhoons, freak waves and other natural and manmade disasters, including in the past two years monitoring of the earthquakes in Haiti and Chile, and the Deepwater Horizon oil spill.

As the only subtropical institute of its kind in the continental United States, the Rosenstiel School's more than 100 faculty members, over 280 graduate students, nearly 400 undergraduate students and over 250 support staff comprise a robust academic community. Through excellence in applied and basic marine and atmospheric research and linking these results to policy, RSMAS sheds light on today's most pressing environmental issues. Scientists and students at RSMAS study a wide range of important topics, many of which relate to the environment and humanity's growing impacts on the natural world. They are at the forefront of research on subjects such as ocean and atmospheric circulation and how they affect the movement of pollutants, climate change, fisheries, coral reefs, sea level rise, oceans and human health, marine policy, and the development of hurricanes and other severe weather events.

Through course work and research, RSMAS students obtain graduate degrees in applied marine physics, marine affairs and policy, marine and atmospheric chemistry, marine biology and fisheries, marine geology and geophysics, and meteorology and physical oceanography. The division of marine affairs and policy at RSMAS and the University of Miami School of Law offer a joint degree in law and marine affairs. Upon completion of this program, a student earns a Juris Doctor degree from the School of Law and a Master of Arts degree in marine affairs and policy from RSMAS. The division of marine affairs and policy also offers an interdisciplinary Master of Science degree with an integrated track in science and policy, providing students with a strong science background the opportunity to build careers in marine resource management.

The Rosenstiel School offers undergraduate coursework in Marine Science, Meteorology, and Marine Affairs programs. Students may study toward the following degrees: Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree in marine affairs and policy, Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degrees in marine science/biology, marine science/chemistry, marine science/geology, marine science/physics, and meteorology. There are two options leading to a B.S. in meteorology: a double-major in meteorology and applied mathematics or a meteorology major with a math minor and one additional minor selected from chemistry, physics, computer science, or biology. In addition to the traditional bachelor's degree programs, students may also elect a five-year B.A./Master of Arts (M.A.) in marine affairs and policy and a five-year B.S./Master of Science (M.S.) in geological sciences/marine geology. Undergraduate students in these programs have opportunities to participate in research projects at RSMAS, working alongside world-class scientists in laboratories and in the field.

The Rosenstiel School launched a Masters of Professional Science in 2011 for students who seek advanced academic training in career tracks relating to marine and atmospheric science. Designed for students who major in the sciences as undergraduates, this interdisciplinary curriculum is structured to allow students to expand applied scientific knowledge, as well as their professional skills. Degrees can be earned in as little as 12 months in one of several focus areas: aquaculture; broadcast meteorology; coastal management; computational meteorology and oceanography; fisheries management; marine mammal science; oceans and human health; tropical marine ecosystems; weather, climate and society; and weather forecasting.

The Leonard and Jayne Abess Center for Ecosystem Science and Policy builds upon the University of Miami's dynamic programs in marine biology, geography, epidemiology, urban planning, ecology, and environmental law, offering an innovative interdisciplinary curriculum for students to explore emerging environmental science and policy issues. Established in 2002, the Abess Center involves graduate and undergraduate students in problem-oriented learning, and affords them the opportunity for substantial field experience. In 2010, the Abess Center inaugurated the R.J. Dunlap Marine Conservation Program in collaboration with RSMAS, which focuses on advancing ocean research through hands-on field and virtual learning experiences for high school and university students, while fostering initiatives that bridge the critical gap between hard science and ecosystem policy.

Cutting-edge research and education at RSMAS is supported through grants from government agencies and private organizations, as well as innovative partnerships and individual donations. Graduate students are an integral part of the research effort, and research programs, many of which are multidisciplinary in nature, provide a dynamic environment for collaboration among professors and students.

 Official SAT (for external reporting) is the SAT reported to the Federal Government, U.S. News and World Report, and other external entities. The Average SAT Combined is computed by summing 4 SAT scores (SAT Verbal 25th and 75th Percentiles and SAT Math 25th and 75th Percentiles) and dividing the total by 2.

Note: "Official SAT" excludes scores for students who performed better on their ACT. "Official ACT" excludes scores for students who perform better on their SAT.

¹ Mandatory fees for undergraduates include Student Activity ($288), Athletic ($132), and Wellness ($304) fees. For full-time undergraduates, University Center and all course-related fees are included in the tuition. Beginning in Fall 2011, a new mandatory fee is being charged to all students, regardless of class level and credit load, for the Student Center ($300). Beginning in Fall 2010, all new undergraduate, graduate, and law students, regardless of full-time/part-time status, are charged a mandatory fee to cover services from the Student Health Center and Counseling Center ($216). Full-time continuing undergraduate students will still receive these services without the additional fee, which is included as part of their tuition. Full-time continuing graduate and law students will continue to pay the fee as before. Part-time continuing students have the option of paying this fee to receive these services. A health insurance fee is automatically charged to all new students, but students with comparable insurance coverage may request a waiver.

² Starting in Fall 2009, a one-time allowance for the purchase of a computer was included in personal expenses.

³ Room and board charges included in the Total Undergraduate Budget are based on double occupancy in the residential college and the 20-meal plan.

Note: Beginning in FY2006, NIH no longer provides comparative ranking tables on its medical research funding. Although it was possible to recreate rankings for awards to U.S. Medical Schools for FY 2006 and later, rankings for awards to U.S. Institutions of Higher Education were not reproducible. Fiscal year is based on NIH fiscal year, not UM's fiscal year.
